

A collection of vintage firearms components is arranged on a circular target with numerical markings. The central piece is a wooden-handled tool, possibly a rammer or punch, with a brass block attached. The block is inscribed with "IDEAL MIDDLEFIELD CONN. U.S.A." and the number "530". Surrounding the block are several brass and steel parts, including what appear to be bullet casing headstamps and other mechanical components. The target has concentric circles and numbers ranging from 15 to 24, with a blue mark in the center.
